Week 9. Plan your day-cation.

In the final stretch of the dog days of summer. Let's linger here just a little bit longer. And celebrate. How? In a sweet small way. A secret-ish get away. Not a full-blown vacation that would require pet sitters and plant waterers, but something so subtle the neighbors will never know. But you? You will know, and remember, and be different after the day is done.

There are two ways forward for your planning. You can BRAINSTORM then STRUCTURE, or STRUCTURE then BRAINSTORM. Either way works. Go with your gut.

STRUCTURE:

Start with the where: town or country? Do you want to be out in nature or in the city walls?

Next, add the 'verts': are you feeling introvert-ish or extrovert-ish? Do you want to be alone or with the crowds?

Third layer, style: is this a big splashy day-cation or a tucked around the corner from main street kind?

BRAINSTORM:

what have you always wanted to do in your city or its surrounds? what are the things you've had on the back burner? The things you wanted to do but never managed to plan for? Today, dream it. Write them all out. Right here. {and absolutely flip the page over for more space!}
